

Staying safe while using social networking sites

Conceived by Sally Paveley and Nick Wonham
Designed and illustrated by Nick Wonham

What are you going to learn?

- To learn how to stay safe when using the internet
- To learn about the dangers of using the internet

'Troll' is an illustration from Choose and Tell More Nursery Rhymes, published by Inclusive Technology. Thanks to copyright holders of company logos contained in this resource.

Social networking sites such as facebook can be great. You can communicate and chat with friends and family using a computer, lap top, smart phone, or tablet, such as an ipad. You can find out their news, watch videos and listen to music. You can also communicate with people you know through email, texting, instant messaging, Skype and internet chat rooms.

Let your parent or carer know that you are using social networking sites.

This is okay.

Stay safe when using social networking sites.

Stay private!

Do not tell anyone you are communicating with online any personal information. This includes the date you were born, your telephone number, your address, and any passwords you have.

Beware of strangers!

Don't make friends online with people that you don't know. Also don't send friend requests to members of school staff as this is not appropriate.

If anyone tries to ask you for personal information online, or you are worried someone online may be a stranger, or anything else worries you, then you can talk to your Mum, Dad, carer, or an adult you trust such as your teacher.

Stay safe when using social networking sites.

Be polite!

Always be polite when communicating with people online.

This is okay.

If you get a message which upsets you or worries you, don't reply to it. Show it to your Mum, Dad, carer, or an adult you trust.

Stay safe when using social networking sites.

Sending people mean messages and being horrible online is called cyber bullying. The people who do it are called trolls, and no-one likes a troll!

Cyber bullying and trolls are not okay.

Is telling an adult you trust that you are upset about something online okay or not okay?

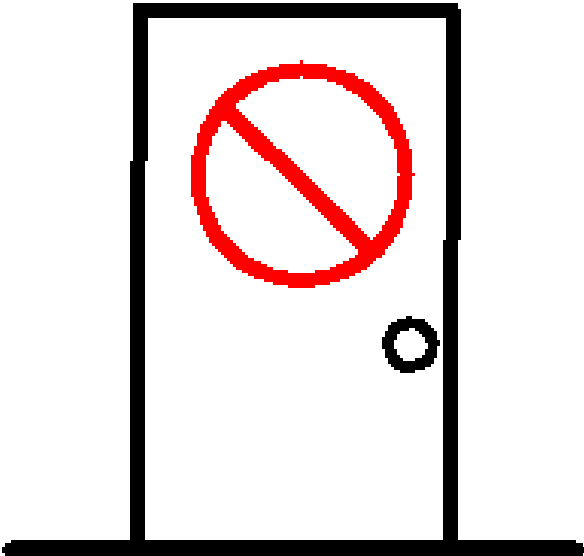

Yes, telling an adult you trust that you are upset about something is okay.

Is staying private and not telling people personal information okay or not okay?

Good, staying private and not telling people personal information is okay.

Is being a cyber bully or troll okay or not okay?

That's right, being a cyber bully or troll is not okay.

Is being polite when online okay or not okay?

Good, being polite online is okay.

Is communicating with strangers online okay or not okay?

Yes, communicating with strangers online is not okay.

